

ANNOUNCEMENT TO THE MARKET

FRASLE MOBILITY S.A. (FRAS3): FrasleMobility (“Company”) announces to its shareholders and to the market in general a new brand of solutions in composite materials, the Composs. This new brand evolves from the Smart Composites brand launched in 2021, aimed at developing new technologies focused on structural composite materials in a pioneering way in the Latin American market.

Composites, which is the focus of the Composs technology, are made from the combination of materials with different physical and chemical properties, resulting in new materials with high performance. Composites have been successful as an alternative material, mainly in replacing metallic components.

The new Businesses acquisitions have accelerated the expansion of production capacity. Furthermore, the Company is working on the implementation of a new and automated line within the Frasle Mobility industrial complex in Caxias do Sul/RS, with the beginning of activities scheduled for the third quarter of 2023. In the new structure, fender and light supports will be produced - being these the first components developed with composite materials - to meet the demands of important partners in the commercial vehicle market. Such investments are foreseen in the normal course of the Company's business.
