Marfrig works to ensure that its wood is not procured from:

1. areas of illegal deforestation;
2. suppliers that violate the rights of traditional populations and/or human rights;
3. forests that were not planted.

5.2 Mapping the source

Mapping the source of goods in the supply chain with an appropriate level of granularity is necessary for determining the supply chain risk and for assessing compliance with Marfrig’s commitment to combating deforestation.

5.3 Verification of origin

All forest-based products supplied to Marfrig must be sourced from planted forests with a measurable volume and with plants on areas that are not banned by environmental agencies and/or are located on areas of indigenous and/or traditional populations.

6. MISCELLANEOUS

When potential conflicts involving the company's internal rules/guidelines are observed, employees must guide their conduct by adopting the most restrictive rule/guideline.
